Question Answered.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers' and grandmothers' never thought of using anything else for Indigestion or Biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of Appendicitis, Nervous Prostration or Heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of one holding the handles. Under undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and other aches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. Get Green's Prize Almanac at Stormes Drug Store.

POINTS ON PLOWING.

Tilling the Soil to the Greatest Ad vantage Is an Art Understood by Very Few Farmers.

A farmer should be quite a me tilling the soil to the greatest advantage. So many farm operations are more or less mechanical in their nature that the man without a mechanical turn is sure to do many things far from well. This is especially true in the matter of plowing. Thousands of acres are plowed each season, the best results of which are not experienced simply because the furrows were not turned properly. Take Fig. 1, for instance. Much plowing is to be seen where, as in this case, the furrows are standing on edge, little inclined beyond the perpendicular.

DIFFERENCE IN FURROWS

In this position the upper part of the sod will not decay, but will keep on growing, sending up shoots between the furrows, to the annoyance of the cultivator. With furrows set like those in Fig. 1, there is a constant falling back into the furrow after the plow has passed, which makes exceedingly bad work.

The furrows in Figs. 2 and 3 are well turned and the sod will be entirely covered when the harrow has Since July passed over the land. Fig. 3 shows how shallower plowing more complete turning of the sod. dition, tobacco 23 points and hemp 28 But shallow plowing of sod is not witch grass is in it. A good deal depends upon the plow as well as upon the plowman, if a furrow is to be well turned. It takes skill to fashion a mold board that will do the best kind of work, and, unfortunate it is, many plows have not had skill expended upon them. Don't buy a plow until you know from the work of the same make of plows that the "share" will turn the furrow neatly and deftly, and that, too, without the necessity of a constant "coaxing" on the part of the good average conditions, a first-class plow will almost run itself, relieving the workman of much hard labor. Fig. 4 shows a common and poor result of using haste in plowing "old ground," that is, ground that was planted the season before. In his haste to get over the ground rapidly the plowman often tries to carry too wide a furrow, with a result that a portion of the soil in each furrow is not moved at all. This is shown in the dotted portion. This cannot well happen in plowing sod, since the whole furrow is held together by the grass roots, and must all rise together. But in old land the earth is crumbly and rolls up over a part that is not moved at all. As the object of plowing old land is to lighten the soil and expose it to the action of the air, there is no small loss in-

TACTICS OF BANDITS.

"How was it ever possible for half a lozen men to ride into a small town like Northfield, Minn., rob a bank and ride away?" asked a reporter of a man in New York who knew the Younger brothers and the fames how the James boys.

the James boys.

The question came up in a talk about the report that Cole and Jim Younger are to be paroled from the Minnesota penitentiary, where they have been since 1876.

The reporter had discussed many historic hold-ups, and compared the bandits of a few years ago with the modern product of to-day, much to the advantage of the former. Their dashing methods appealed to his sense of, "a good story." In print the modern hold-up was a tame affair compared to some of those in history.

"Such a thing," was the reply, "could not be done so easily now as in 1876. Bank robbery requires nerve of a peculiar order. I bery requires nerve of a peculiar order. I never engaged in the business myself, but at one time of my life I knew men who did. at one time of my life I knew men who did. I was personally acquainted, for instance, with the Youngers and the Jameses. Left to themselves, the James boys would never have been successful in bank robbery. They were better at holding up stage coaches and railroad trains. But to answer your question directly, the Northfield bank affair will illustrate the method.

"The game that red into Minesett 11.3.

"The gang that rode into Minnesota did a sort of bandits' outing party. They rode into Minnesota leisurely. The party was composed of Cole, Jim and Bob Younger, Frank and Jesse James, Charley Pitts, Bill chanic in his nature to succeed in Chadwell and Clell Miller. They were well

> "The Youngers were the brains of the party. They were always men of good presence. Bob was as handsome as a wellpresence. Bob was as handsome as a well-trained athlete. He always impressed women favorably. Jim was the politician of the trio. He could talk to men and get their confidence. Cole was more reserved, but he could have joined any church on his first application. His early training was in a ligious direction.

"These three visited some of the resorts in Minnesota before the Northfield affair came off. They learned a good deal in their visits about towns, about the people, for you must remember that they were away off their compass when they were in Minnesota. That's why they touched elbows with the people at the resorts. When the sea was over they knew the best place to strike. They knew how to get into Northfield and how to get out of it.

"Northfield had about 2,000 people. It "Northfield had about 2,000 people. It was a quiet town. They didn't dash into it, as some people think. That isn't the way raids on banks were made in those days. Bob Younger, Jesse James and Charley Pitts rode into the town first, very leisurely. They had no intention of creating any suspicion by doing anything else. It was a common occurrence for men to ride into town as they did. They tied their horses to a rack near the bank. They stood horses to a rack near the bank. They stood on the corner, as countrymen do in a small town, and talked politics, as you and I

"At the same time they were taking note "At the same time they were taking note of the people. They tarried on the torner at the hour of noon, and after, for that was the time when people in a town like Northfield were at dinner. They eat dinner in such towns at noon. There were fewer people astir then than at any other hour.

"While they were talking the other mem-

some sort of signal, came whooping and shouting down the main street. These were Jim and Cole Younger, Bill Chadwell and Clell Miller. Every one of them had been with Quantrell, and as they rode they uttered the rebel vell. It was new in Minne Naturally it startled the few people on the street. I'll venture to say that if a man should gallop down Broadway at its busiest hour and fire a pistol and yell, it would startle the crowd.

"As soon as Bob Younger and his two friends saw that the people on the street were confused they added to the confusion by running about shouting: 'Get off the street!' You know how easy it is for one man to control a panic-stricken crowd. He can either make it run like scared animals, standstill. You have seen instances of both kinds here in New York.

"The cry of 'Get off the street!' was a new one in that quiet town. That it was uttered by strangers made no difference. by strangers made no difference. Feore in a panic don't reason. If they did there would be no fatalities. Bob Younger knew this. He and Cole and Jim planned the whole thing in advance. Get the people scared and they would run to their houses. "The moment Bob Younger saw the peo ple on the run he and Pitts and Jame rushed into the bank. They had, however ushed the game. The scare outside had enetrated the bank. The cashier, Hayd, had time to fathom the situation He slammed the inner door of the vault, shut and locked it. He must have been an unusually quick man mentally as well as "His act disconcerted even such men as Bob Younger and Jesse James. The latter lost his head. He drew a knife across Haywood's throat to scare him and make him open the safe. Haywood didn't scare. There are few men who will not quail at the touch of cold steel. Jesse James cursed and raved. Two clerks in the bank escaped and were shot at. Bob Younger knew this was a mis-take, and left the bank. Jesse James followed, but turned, fired and killed Hay-wood. It was bad business. It only infuriated the town.

"There was no pecessity for James' shoot he knew the safe door was closed. Besides, the uproar at the bank gave the town time to think, and the citizens went after the bandits, who rode out of town on a gallop. Bill Chadwell and Clell Miller were killed on the way out. In this case the warning to the people to get off the street was given too soon. If Haywood had not had the warning he probably would have given in.

"I read a statement credited to Jim ger some time ago, in which he said James was not at the Northfield bank raid. I don't believe Jim Younger ever said that. There was nothing to be gained by such a statement. He knew Jesse James

"Frank James was not in the raid, but h "Frank James was not in the raid, but he was on guard. As the bandits rode away he joined them. He was taken sick, and that is how Jesse James escaped. His love for Frank was always like that a woman has for her child. He escaped and took Frank with him on the pommel of his saddle. In this way they rode by night and secreted themselves by day.

entered a town on his route and bought medicine, returned to the sick brother, ministered to him, and at night they resumed their ride. This was continued until they reached Missouri, and a Kansas City doctor took charge of Frank and nursed him back to health right there in the town. I knew the doctor well, and I had the story from his lips. His account of that ride was one of the most exciting recitals I ever heard."

Finding Opportunities to Do Good. Doing a little good is better than dong no good. But doing good as we have opportunity is even better than doing a little good, for every one of us has opportunity of doing good in more than one way, and usually to more than one person, every day of our lives. Therefore let us do good as we have opportunity, and let us watch for opportunities. Our power to find oppor-tunities, and to meet them, will grow with its exercise. All of us can do a great deal of good.—S. S. Times.

Sorrowful Heart No Valid Excu for Shutting the Sunlight Out of Other Lives.

"You buried your baby this summer?" questioned a well-meaning matron of the younger lady with whom she had been conversing. "Yes," answered the other. Her two little boys whom she had brought out to see a street parade were by her side, and as the questioner passed on a thought of the possible bearing of the remark brought the tears to the young mother's eyes. "Did she wonder to see me here? I have no right to bury my living children," she said appealingly to a friend. She was right. Her sorrowful heart was no excuse for shutting her little ones away from the innocent pleasures or barring the sunlight out of their lives. The sacrifice of the living to the dead is not confined to heathen lands; it is only too common all about us, and whose families are subjected to hardship for the sake of a grief which calls itself sacred, but is really selfish.
